FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Regina Airport 2026 Fees and Charges

The Regina Airport Authority is proud to operate a safe, secure, and efficient airport, while promoting economic development for the community we serve. We operate independently of government funding; therefore, we rely upon fees paid by passengers to help improve and maintain the infrastructure here at YQR.

Beginning June 1, 2026, the airport is updating its schedule of fees and charges, which is also published on www.yqr.ca

The Passenger Facility Fee (PFF) for departing passengers from YQR will increase from $30 to $40, plus applicable taxes. The airport will maintain one of the lowest landing and terminal fees in the country, and there will be a 0% increase for airlines serving YQR.

“As southern Saskatchewan continues to grow, demand for air travel is expanding. We must ensure that our safety and security infrastructure, air service development investments and passenger experience keeps pace with demand.” James Bogusz, President and CEO of Regina Airport Authority. “By maintaining a low-cost environment for the airlines, this further encourages them to grow their capacity in southern Saskatchewan. We will continue to invest the Passenger Facility Fee on infrastructure, projects and initiatives that enhance the airport for our entire region.”
